Specially when it come to fine jewelry you want something that will look fabulous for years to come. You may even have some of these styles already in jewelry box. Now is the right time to wear them.

Rose Gold

This year there is a lot of excitement about rose gold jewelry. Rose gold signifies romance and bliss. Many designers and celebrities like Blake Lively and Katie Holmes have been opting for rose gold for their engagement rings. Unlike yellow or white gold, rose gold looks great on all skin tones. Some of the pieces below are examples of timeless pieces that one could wear for a wedding. Below are some of our favorite pieces in rose gold - rose gold infinity bracelet, rose gold infinity earrings and rose gold ring with brown/chocolate diamonds.

Art Deco Jewelry

Art Deco style is a combinations of modernist forms and rich materials. It represents luxury, glamor and exuberance. It was really popular in 1920's and 1930's. It's mostly inspired by bold geometric forms and bright colors. The materials used are typically silver, crystals, jade and other precious gemstones.

For weddings, Art Deco style jewelry can be a great to express your modern personality. It's extremely sophisticated style and goes very well with bridal gowns.

Greenery - Pantone Colors of 2017

Greenery is a refreshing shade and a symbol of new beginnings. 2017 weddings will use a lot of greenery. This color represents flourishing foliage and encourages people to take a deep breath and reinvigorate. It's definitely a very refreshing color that one must consider while choosing fine jewelry pieces. Peridot gemstones and emeralds may be a great choice if looking for accent pieces. Give it a try, and these colors will not disappoint.

Baguette Diamonds

Baguette diamonds are linear rectangular shape diamonds with octagonal corners. The shape of the diamonds goes well with the Art Deco theme. The jewelry emphasizes pure geometric forms with clean lines. Baguette diamonds look fabulous when incorporated into jewelry. Below is an example of a gold and Art Deco style ring with baguette diamonds.

Chokers

Chokers are one of the jewelry styles that I think will never go out of style. Chokers can be of several different styles, some thing modern and delicate that can be worn by layering different pieces. You can be as creative with this style and have the pieces in diamonds, enamel or just plain gold. The diamond choker necklace below is extremely versatile and a classic piece. The delicate design is inspired by the Art Deco decorative style.

In the picture below @Classitge is wearing a diamond choker that is looking fabulous. Its simple yet extremely sophisticated. You can dress this up with you bridal outfit or wear later for special occasions.
