THE HOUSE OF MANGALSUTRAS BY SAMPAT JEWELERS

Flaunt Your Mangalsutra

A Wedding is one of the most beautiful time in one's life. It's the beginning of a new relationship and fun endeavors.

There are five signs of marital status of women – mangalsutra, toe rings, kumkum, bangles and a nose ring. But mangalsutra is the most important in some Hindu cultures. Yet we don't see many women flaunt mangalsutras on a daily basis compared to engagement rings in western cultures.

Many brides complain that mangalsutra designs are "too traditional" and don't go well with their everyday modern clothing. As much as they would love to wear it, there aren't any smart designs that reflect their lifestyle and personality.

In professional places like an office, a modern woman prefers not to wear traditional jewelry even though she deeply values the culture. Times are changing and so should the mangalsutra designs.

Here we've come up with unique designs that are modern yet are an honest reflection of our culture and tradition. Designs you may see in this styled shoot are exclusively designed by Sampat Jewellers for the modern bride.
